

Enagic™ Basic 8 Point Commission Structure

For LevelLuk SD501

Distributor rank, as represented by the total number of units sold, increases in the direction of the arrows.

If you are a 2A distributor,

A and B are your 1A lines and C is your 2A line. Your commission amount generated by A, B and their down lines are limited to one point. Commissions from C and his/her down lines are always up to two points.

H is in the 2A line and I is in the 3A line of C.

When N purchases a machine, M receives one point commission, J receives two point commission, I receives one point commission, C receives three point commission, and you receive one point commission, not two.

Total commissions for M, J, I and C are seven points. Maximum commissions paid by Enagic are eight points. So your commission remains as one point.

Enagic™ USA is a very exciting company that has the highly desirable ingredients Distributors demand when creating a successful business.

Enagic™ had its origin in 1974 with Founder Hironari Oshiro, a former executive of Sony Corporation. He surrounded himself with highly skilled leadership, some of whom remain with the company today. In 1998 the company embraced network marketing and sales, and only six years later they enjoyed annual sales in excess of $225 million. Enagic™ continues to remain a privately held, debt-free company.

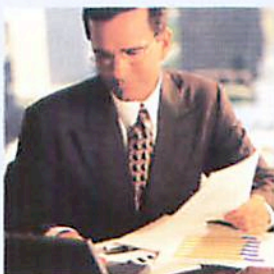

The vision of international expansion is rapidly becoming a reality as Enagic™ USA has opened offices in Los Angeles, Honolulu, New York, Chicago and Vancouver to best serve their Distributors.

Enagic™ Distributors begin building their Distributorship through the basic Eight Point Commission Structure and go on to enjoy other rewarding commissions and bonuses as they develop their business and help others develop business.

The Basic Eight Point Commission structure pays out eight points within eight levels. At any given rank, the Distributor will earn the amount due to his/her rank, less the amounts due to other Distributors between him/her and the sales.
